MORNING MESSAGE

“Now is the Time”

Haggai 1:1,5; 2:4,14-15,23

James Montgomery Boice, “There is a conviction, shared by various writers, that history is a series of key moments in the otherwise undistinguished flow of human life...years may go by with little of importance happening. But suddenly there is a crisis. A challenge will emerge, and the nature of history will be determined by how the leaders of the day react to that challenge”
